

Bridal Creeper - Photos

Asparagus asparagoides Asparagaceae family

Bridal creeper Asparagus asparagoides

Courtesy John Moore

Courtesy John Moore

HG4785

Courtesy John Moore

Courtesy John Moore

Courtesy John Moore

Courtesy John Moore

Courtesy John Moore

Courtesy John Moore

Courtesy John Moore

Courtesy John Moore

Courtesy John Moore

Courtesy John Moore

Courtesy John Moore

Courtesy John Moore

Leafhopper damage

Courtesy John Moore

Sward affected by biocontrol Rust and Leafhoppers
Courtesy John Moore

Plant with biocontrol Rust
Courtesy John Moore

Biocontrol Rust
Courtesy John Moore

Biocontrol Leafhopper (Zygina species)
Courtesy Rick Roush

2 g/ha Metsulfuron on right, Leafhopper on left of peg.
Courtesy John Moore

2 g/ha mesulfuron applied with a backpack mister.
Courtesy John Moore

Metsulfuron symptom on surviving Bridal Creeper.
Courtesy John Moore

At 2 g/ha metsulfuron Bridal Creeper dies
and Blackberry and other species are not affected.
Courtesy John Moore

HG6320

Asparagus crispus
Courtesy John Moore

HG4516

Asparagus crispus
Courtesy John Moore

HG4514

Asparagus crispus
Courtesy John Moore

HG4517

Asparagus crispus
Courtesy John Moore

Asparagus crispus plant with Spit Bugs
Courtesy John Moore

Acknowledgments:

Collated by HerbiGuide. Phone 08 98444064 for more information.